ERP

(Advanced Enterprise Resource Planning Systems)

ERP

Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) is the process of managing all business functions in a manner that is coordinated & efficient.

In a digitized business world, ERP is managed via specialized software that helps manage functions of business such as production, purchase, finance, human resource, sales and more.

ERP helps create an inter-connectedness between these functions and through this creates efficiencies in operations, which is not possible in a scenario where departments work in silos.

MOVING AWAY FROM 'ISLANDS OF COMPUTING'

Unlike contemporary ERP solutions, old business systems are strictly function based.

Each department has their own system & these applications do not 'talk to each other'.

Hence, isolation decisions are taken which reduces efficiencies.

Further, this increases expenses as each system needs to be separately maintained and updated.

ERP BY APPZZON

An advanced ERP system with modules that integrates in the most efficient manner. It's a move away from island systems of computing.

Seamless linkages between modules & a system optimized to deliver. Ground-breaking framework geared for tactical + strategic planning.

Hyper-intuitive interface that is user-friendly; even for the technologically challenged.

Financial Management

Finances are the back-bone of any business, even educational. PSMS is designed specifically keeping in mind the cash flow in a school system. Easy management of cost centers, purchases, vendor management, payments, revenues and day-to-day accounting, make PSMS the perfect financial management support system.

Manage student billing with the same software the rest of your school uses. Tuition and fees are integrated with course registration so you can automate charges. Students can access their invoices, statements, and tax forms. Online payments, financial aid, donations, and an exportable general ledger complete the picture.

Online payments

Start accepting credit cards and electronic checks through PSMS App. Students and third parties can pay tuition and fees. You can even start taking online donations.

Financial aid

Track financial aid from the initial application all the way to disbursing funds. Field your students' questions right from their aid application and carry on correspondence via email. Students can accept and decline awards online.

Donations

Take online donations or record the old-fashioned kind. Campaigns and appeals help you track how well your fundraising efforts are working. Together with PSMS communication and contacts features, you can keep up with your donors and advance your school's mission.

Tuition and fees

Automate your tuition schedules with custom brackets, refund policies, and even custom fee rules. PSMS automatically updates charges and refunds as students register for or drop courses. Then invoice your students in batches, or just one at a time.

Everyone's in the loop

Your students get automatic alerts about their upcoming and overdue invoices. See their charges in detail on their profiles—courses that triggered tuition, why certain fees kicked in, how much was paid, and when. At-a-glance account summaries, detailed statements—and more—make it easy to keep everyone informed.

Reporting

See transactions, payments, unpaid invoices, and more in detail for any given period—by term, by year, or any custom date range.

Admissions & Registrations

PSMS has a user-friendly interface with a robust back-end which supports error-free data entry, data storage and data retrieval. Real time updates and web-linkage make the complex process of admissions, easy for parents, teachers and school administration alike.

Find the students you're looking for

Connect with new leads and inquiries. Shepherd them through the application process. Help accepted students get started at your school. And all along the way, reporting and communication tools help you gauge how you're doing, how you've done, and what's coming next. Recruiting students for your school is a crucial job, and PSMS helps you every step of the way.

One system, online

Web-based admissions means you can keep up with your leads wherever you are, whatever device you're using. Meet new leads with online inquiry and application forms. And once they've decided to attend, everyone—from the registrar to the financial aid office—will have all the information they need to get new students started at your school.

Keep up with your leads

Good communication makes for a better admissions process. Get the conversation started with embeddable Inquiry Forms and keep it going via text or email. Application questions let your applicants seek you out when they need help with the process. Communication Plans send pre-set series of emails, printed letters, and tasks. And when you run reports—say, applicants who might miss the deadline—you can email or text everyone with one click.

Applications

Learn about your applicants and prepare them for your school. Design applications that collect all the information you need—everything from contact info to third-party references. Customize them for different academic programs and purposes. You can embed application forms and get applicants started right from your website. Easily collect (or waive) application fees. And when you accept a new student, you can plug all that application info directly into their profile.

Reporting

See where your Leads came from. See how everyone's doing right now. See where you should go next. Create custom items (lead sources, application fields) and then find them in your reports. Do things like compare applicant answers on specific application fields. Or find out about the most (or least!) productive Lead Sources. The funnel report condenses all this data so you can see how far your Leads get into the Admissions process, letting you identify problem areas at any point.
